

Coworking: Building Community as a Space Catalyst

by: Angel Kwiatkowski &
Beth Buczynski

Coworking: Building Community as a Space Catalyst

by Angel Kwiatkowski and Beth Buczynski

ebook design and layout by Suzanne Akin

All contents copyright © 2011 by Angel Kwiatkowski and Beth Buczynski, All Rights Reserved worldwide under the Berne Convention. May not be copied or distributed without prior written permission -- if you have this file (or a printout) and didn't pay for it, you are depriving the authors of a much needed revenue stream at their coworking space. Please pay for your copy by purchasing it at <http://coherecommunity.com> or <http://gonecoworking.com>. Thank you.

What is coworking?

We believe that coworking happens anytime more than one motivated person gathers with the intention to work and create shared value for the benefit of the community.

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	2
Coworking definition	3
Introduction	5
Authors' stories	7
Purpose of the book	9
Why space catalysts are necessary	11
Characteristics of a space owner	14
Profitability of coworking	15
Global coworking resources	15
Educating communities about coworking	17
The five values of coworking	19
Finding a community	22
Pros and cons of coworking in other spaces first	27
Indicators that a community is engaged	30
Indicators that a community is disengaged	31
Tipping point	37
Next steps for space catalysts	39

Coworking: Building Community as a Space Catalyst is a timely and much needed book about the most important movement for independent workers today. Coworking spaces are one of the crucibles from which a new economy will emerge, and it's essential that the movement hold on to its core values of community, collaboration, openness, accessibility, and sustainability as it grows. This book will help catalysts incorporate these values into their communities to create a new collaborative economy.

-Neal Gorenflo, co-founder of Shareable Magazine-

photo by: Christina Gressianu
www.ChristinaGressianu.com

A useful, hands-on and thought-provoking resource for coworking space catalysts based on the proven principle of "community first, space second." Starting any business is hard. Starting a business when the concept has only been around for a handful of years is even harder.

Cohere, LLC™

www.coherecommunity.com